

Grettir & Glámur

Grettir wasn't like the other children in the village. When the other kids could barely lift a stone, Grettir hoisted up a whole boulder — just to see the look on people's faces.

But his strength came with a bit of mischief too. One day he tipped over an entire bucket of water — fish and all — right in front of a very startled neighbor.